A DICTIONARY OF CHRISTIAN BIOGRAPHY, LITERATURE, SECTS AND DOCTRINES

BEING A CONTINUATION OF "THE DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE."

UNDERSTANDING CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE

John Wiley & Sons The comprehensive and engaging introduction to contemporary Christianity, revised and updated The second edition of Understanding Christian Doctrine presents a completely updated and revised edition that builds on the most popular features of the first edition to offer a lively overview to the central beliefs of Christianity. Ian S Markham, a noted authority of Christianity, discusses the great thinkers of the Christian tradition and puts them in conversation with contemporary progressive theologies in a book that goes from Augustine, Aquinas, and Luther to Liberationist, Feminist, and Queer theologies. Designed to be a basic primer, the text is written in a manner that assumes the reader has no prior knowledge of theology or Christian doctrine. The book is designed to present the basic options in all the key areas of Christianity as well as information on how to make complex theological decisions. The author tackles all the key questions from creation to eschatology. Furthermore, Markham makes his own distinctive contribution: he argues that theodicy (traditionally seen as a major difficulty with belief) is actually a theme that links many aspects of Christian doctrine. The revised second edition includes a wealth of new information, including: A lively and comprehensive introduction to Christianity that assumes no prior knowledge of the faith An overview to the great thinkers of Christian tradition that puts them in conversation with progressive liberationist theologies Suggestions that help even the most skeptical to learn to understand and possibly embrace theological assertions Breakout boxes that explain the significance of the text's various philosophical ideas and positions The text is ideal for anyone interested in learning about the foundations of Christianity as well as new ideas about the faith. Christianity is presented in a manner that embraces the richness of the tradition and affirms the central claims of the historical creeds, while engaging with liberationist challenges to the tradition.

THE PROCESS OF BUDDHIST-CHRISTIAN DIALOGUE

Wipf and Stock Publishers While process philosophers and theologians have written numerous essays on Buddhist-Christian dialogue, few have sought to expand the current Buddhist-Christian dialogue into a "trilogue" by bringing the natural sciences into the discussion as a third partner. This was the topic of Paul O. Ingram's previous book, Buddhist-Christian Dialogue in an Age of Science. The thesis of the present work is that Buddhist-Christian dialogue in all three of its forms--conceptual, social engagement, and interior--are interdependent processes of creative transformation. Ingram appropriates the categories of Whitehead's process metaphysics as a means of clarifying how dialogue is now mutually and creatively transforming both Buddhism and Christianity.

GOD LOVES CHRISTIANITY

The aim of this over 581 pages, about 50 chapters and over 350 questions and answers book is to promote world peace through understanding all faiths. Sometimes we turn to judge people superficially which often results in them reacting unjustly. We are afraid to ask questions in case the words and tone used offends us. We thus live in a world of uncertainty in many aspects of our behaviour, both verbal and non-verbal communication including our prayers. We claim to be monotheists (worshipping one God) but we have different approaches. Most of us draw conclusions and judgments without understanding the ritual and motives of other faiths. Reducing the tension between faiths would make us approachable and sociable on earth. Jesus is well-respected by all the faiths, especially for his divinity birth. However, his teaching using parables and their interpretation has caused misunderstandings and it has created many divisions which have resulted in thousands of Christian denominations. One thing that binds Christians together is their belief in Jesus Christ and that God sent him as his special messenger. Jesus never claimed to be God. The closest claim was being the son of God which he meant to be an attribute of God. I believe that all human beings are sons and daughters of God. Similarly, God's messengers such as Moses, Abraham, David, Jesus Christ, and Muhammad were all special because they revealed the way of life as per God's commandments or revelation. The miracles of Jesus Christ were an example of being a special son of God. Most faiths, especially the Christianity, Islamic and Hinduism believe that Jesus might be a lead judge on the judgment day which I believe will last less than five minutes for everybody to receive their unappealing judgment. This prediction is so because God can hear and see and answers everybody at the same time. (Assume that the sky is the eye of God and the air is the ear and speech of God). Another argument amongst Christians is that Jesus has no brothers and sisters although it is referred in the Bible that he has brothers.. In fact, in 2019, Pope Francis stopped this "Mary pray for us" routine. However, I urge all faiths to respect the beliefs of others, either within the same or different faith doctrines. We should leave judgment to God. We should also live with our differences so as to maintain peace in the world. Among the Christians that I interviewed, at least 50 per cent appeared not to have enough knowledge about the New Testament, let alone the whole of the Bible. Most of the questions in this publication came from either unbelievers or people who wished to know more about Christianity. Some questions are sensitive and in some cases, I have not given full answers or explanations in order to generate dialogue between believers and nonbelievers of Jesus Christ. Even though this book has not covered everything in the Holy Bible, there are so many Christian denominations that answer the questions in this publication, but it may not apply to all. However, this book contains enough information to confirm God Love for Christianity as well as other monotheists' faiths. This requires you to have faith, belief, and trust in Jesus Christ's true meaning of his doctrine and above all, trust and believe in Almighty God, the creator of the earth and the universe. God is the Alpha and Omega (the beginning and the end), the great architect of the universe and the greatest geometrician of the universe, therefore we need to worship, praise and glorify Him alone. On the other hand, Jesus is the rock and the stronghold of Christianity. There may be some questions which might upset some of the faiths. The question that we need to ask ourselves is, "should we know each other so as to understand and respect them or should we live in a hypocritical manner full of hatred because of our faith?" I sincerely hope this book will break the ice between various faiths to communicate without any apprehension of the outcome e

SCM CORE TEXT CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE

SCM Press The SCM Core Text: Christian Doctrine offers an up-to-date, accessible introduction to one of the core subjects of theology. Written for second and third-year university students, it shows that Christian Doctrine is not a series of impossible claims to be clung to with blind faith. Mike Highton argues that it is, rather, a set of claims that emerge in the midst of Christian life, as Christian communities try to make enough sense of their lives and of their world to allow them to carry on. Christian communities have made sense of their own life, and the life of the wider world in which they are set, as life created by God to share in God's own life. They have seen themselves and their world as laid hold of God's life in Jesus of Nazareth, and as having the Spirit of God's own life actively at work within them. This book explores these and other central Christian doctrines, and in each case, shows how the doctrine makes sense, and how it is woven into Christian life. It will help readers to see what sense it might make to say the things that Christian doctrine says, and how that doctrine might affect the way that one looks at everything: the natural world, gossip, culture, speaking in tongues, politics, dieting, human freedom, love, High Noon, justice, computers, racism, the novels of Jane Austin, parenthood, death and fashion.

THE CHRISTIAN EXAMINER

ON CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE

THEOLOGICAL TREATISE ON THE TEACHINGS OF SCRIPTURES

e-arnow On Christian Doctrine is a theological text written by Augustine of Hippo. It consists of four books that describe how to interpret and teach the Scriptures. By writing this text, Augustine set three tasks for Christian teachers and preachers: to discover the truth in the contents of the Scriptures, to teach the truth from the Scriptures, and to defend scriptural truth when it was attacked. Book One discusses enjoyment, use, interpretation, and the relation of various Christian doctrines to these concepts; Book Two discusses the types of unknown signs present in the world and defines each and presents methods for understanding the Scriptures; Book Three discusses how to interpret ambiguous literal and ambiguous figurative signs. Ambiguous signs are those whose meaning is unclear or confused; Book Four discusses the relationship between Christian truth and rhetoric, the importance of eloquence, and the role of the preacher.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CHRISTIAN RESPONSES TO RELIGIOUS PLURALISM

DIFFERENCE IS EVERYTHING

Routledge Twentieth Century Christian Responses to Religious Pluralism begins with the recognition that the traditional three-fold typology adopted by Christians in responding to other living world religions is no longer adequate and offers a much more sophisticated and developed approach. This is accomplished with particular reference to ten key Twentieth Century theologians, each of whom had significant influence in the field of inter-religious studies, both during their lifetime and beyond. The author rejects the exclusivism and triumphalism of traditional Christian approaches and argues strongly and persuasively that the future for inter-religious relationships lies in what he describes as 'classical pluralism', and in an understanding of the importance of difference for inter-faith dialogue. Presenting an accessible introduction to the contemporary issues and challenges facing all those engaged in the further development of inter-faith relationships, dialogue and partnership between the world religions, Pitman argues that the future of world peace and prosperity depends on the outcome.

YAHWEH AND ALLAH -- THE ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCES

WHY CHRISTIANS AND MUSLIMS DO NOT WORSHIP THE SAME GOD AND WHY IT MATTERS

The question of whether or not Muslims and Christians worship the same deity has become a heated debate in many theological circles. This debate, in particular, is a growing question for Christians in the West, as large numbers of Muslims are entering the population, and the answer given helps to determine interactions with them. This study was made by a review of various literature materials. Primary sources included translations of the Qur'an and the Bible. Secondary sources included books written by prominent Christian apologists. An important book used was by Yale theologian, Miroslav Volf, which took the opposing side of the argument being presented in this thesis as well as his debate with Nabeel Qureshi on the same subject. As this particular topic is seeing a renewed interest in theological circles, much of the work is available in audio recordings from experts on the topic. The conclusion of the research was that the two religions, in fact, hold to two separate concepts of deity and, as a result, do not worship the same god. This argument primarily came down to two major Christian doctrines. While many other differences could be discussed between the two religions, it is the Christian belief in the Trinity and the person of Christ, which essentially separates it from Islam. Finally, how people answer the question, of who God is, affects how they relate to persons of different religions since the doctrines in conflict are of soteriological importance to both groups.

CONCISE ANSWERS TO COMMON COMPLEX QUESTIONS

AN EXAMINATION OF CONTROVERSIAL DOCTRINES IN THE CHURCH

Xlibris Corporation Early in his ministry Bruce Tucker discovered that people frequently asked about the same tough issues of the faith. Certain questions repeatedly surfaced. Every Christian encounters these issues in the first few years of their faith. These issues can be very emotional, especially to those who hold different convictions about the answers. These questions are also controversial. There is a considerable difference of opinion about the answers, and that is why the questions have not been resolved. Christians can not agree. Until they do, people will continue asking. Individuals desire to have some resolution. These questions have a practical impact on their lives. Few people ask about the number of angels that can dance on the head of a pin. They simply don't care. It doesn't directly affect them. These issues do have an impact. How can evil and a loving God both exist? Can a Christian lose his or her salvation? How can God predestine people who still have a free will? Is healing guaranteed to
